Administration

The exceptionally high rating of the Tucson school system, in comparison with other systems in cities of similar size, is more than a mere accident. It is more than a matter of adequate space, imposing architecture, facilities for studying and recreation and even a top-notch teaching staff. At the very head, there must be a group of administrators who are experienced and expert in developing a winning educational team.

Among this group is Andy Tolson, ex-

Dean of Boys, who is serving his first year as principal of Tucson Senior High School. His duties include living within the budget set by the Board of Education, establishing necessary rules and regulations for teachers and the student body, supervising instruction and managing offices, activities and maintenance of school property.

Chief administrator of the Tucson school system is Mr. Robert D. Morrow. As Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Morrow has served Tucson since 1940 and was previously in charge of schools in the states of Missouri and Iowa, as well as in Arizona. For such an educator, it is only natural to expect that one college would hardly be enough; so Mr. Morrow attended Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri; George Washington College in Washington, D. C., and secured his master's degree at Gallaudet University.

Mr. C. A. Carson, former principal of Tucson High, is second in command, carrying the awe-inspiring title of Assistant Superintendent of Schools in Charge of Secondary Education. In that capacity, Mr. Carson is responsible for the welfare and progress of the several thousand high-school students in this school district.

Co-education at Tucson High is more than a mere academic principle; it is also an opportunity for wide social activity, under the supervision of Miss Calanthe Brazelton, Dean of Girls. Though Miss Brazelton is primarily concerned with attendance and guidance, she also directs the after-game dances and the Junior Red Cross shows given during the school year. In addition, she serves as advisor to the Girls' Social Hour Committee, the Honor Service Society and the United Badger Service which this year has assumed the task of furnishing aid to ten students who could not otherwise continue in high school.

Finally, we come to the members of the Board of Education, or School Board, elected by the property tax-payers of the school district. At the head of this board, which has the highest authority within the Administration, is Mr. Fred Fickett, attorney and former judge. Mr. Oliver Drachman, business man, is a leading member of the Board. Newest member, re-elected for a full term this Fall, is Dr. Delbert Secrist, long interested in various youth activities and a former All-American football player at Washington and Jefferson College. Together, these three have final jurisdiction in the hiring of new teachers and in the planning and building of new schools.

Long-faithful secretary of the Board is Mrs. A. W. Kellond.

A school system can be no better than its Administration. Tucson's Administration is as good as they come!

Long after the 3000 students of Tucson High have left their halls of learning for the day, the new Vocational Building hums with educational activity into the night. More than 500 men and women enrolled in the Adult Evening School, paying moderate tuition fees of $5 to $15 per course and receiving instruction in 33 different subjects.

Evening Adult Education

Classes are given in such academic subjects as English and Spanish; in such practical fields as public-speaking, typing, shorthand and bookkeeping; and in such helpful crafts and trades as brick-laying, electricity, photography, plumbing, refrigeration, welding . . .

ley, who also serves as Assistant Principal of THS. Mr. Gridley now has a swank office in the Vocational Building, but even so, life is far from being all foam-rubber for him, since heavy administrative responsibilities keep him on the move. However, that suits Mr. Gridley, who as head-coach kept the Badger football team on the move for twenty-one years, guiding it to several state championships and undefeated seasons.

Church at "Old Tucson"

A. V. HUMPHRYS, President

Student Government

Today's students are tomorrow's citizens! Students at THS learn the fine points of democratic citizenship by participating in the student government program.

To many of us, the phrase, "You are now excused to go to your 3rd period class," became symbolic of A. V. Humphrys and his role as Student Body President. However, though A. V. was the one who called to order and dismissed all student body meetings, his responsibilities represent a more varied field. It was his job to appoint all student committees for school projects, to see that we students obeyed the acts passed by the Student Council and generally to be the student "Big Chief."

Since co-operation is the "by-word" of every THS officer, the special duty of each is to work and co-operate to the utmost with his fellow officers as well as students. Vice-president Jon Robson shared A. V.'s headaches, lending help on numerous occasions to special projects like the Traffic Control Plan for 7th Street and presiding over Student Council meetings in A. V.'s absence. Though "pint-size," Jon was definitely a "Big Wheel".

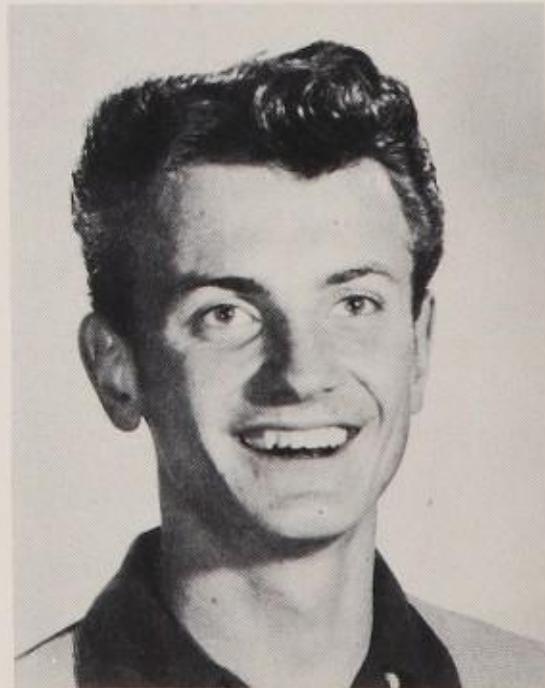

The office of Student Body Secretary has numerous responsibilities which do not meet the average student's eye. Of course, Teta Martyn kept accounts of Student Council meetings, but her duties didn't stop there. For Teta took care of all student body correspondence. If a school was especially hospitable to any of our athletic teams, it received a thank-you note from Teta. For example, she wrote to the Mesa Student Council, thanking them for the hospitality shown THS students at the Mesa-Tucson football game. When other schools requested information or a copy of our constitution or handbook, it was Teta's job to see that their request was granted.

Seven councilmen—sophomores, Scott Westmoreland and Marilyn McNeill; juniors, Doug Holsclaw and Jim Milligan; and seniors, Mary Jane Westmoreland and Bob Pesqueira, together with Councilman-at-large Jerry Tolle—made up the Student Council. They had charge of organizing the pep squad and choosing cheerleaders and song leaders, who were later trained by Danny Romero. They cleared with the city government for pep rallies downtown and took charge of all student elections.

Although the officers direct student affairs, the students themselves have the power of petition if they desire changes in the conduct of these affairs, and suggestions to the Council are encouraged and welcomed.

Yes, THS is truly a model democracy!

Seniors

With a number of "firsts" on its schedule, the Class of '51 left many fond memories for years hence.

The first project undertaken was the establishment of a senior bank. An immediate success, it helped start the year off on the right foot.

On November 25, the University of Arizona played host to seniors from all over the state with Tucson High providing the largest representation. The program included a mass assembly, tour of the U of A campus, student dance and barbecue, followed by the football game with Iowa State.

Long before the Senior Prom itself, seniors were busy helping with preparations and speculating on the secret theme. Slow, smooth music and soft lights reflecting the brilliance of balloons in the huge glass fountain, all contributed to the effectiveness of the theme, "Fountain of Youth".

After the prom, class officers began working on original ideas for the annual senior production, "The Follies", with Advisor Danny Romero their inspiration and guide. The Follies made its three-night stand for the public on May 16, 17 and 18.

While underclassmen suffered through final school "daze," THS seniors got away from it all with their traditional ditch day. But all too soon it was May 29, time for Commencement. Who would imagine a year, or rather three years, could pass so quickly!

Mingled thoughts and misgivings about future plans, nostalgic reminiscing about fun in Senior Office, publication deadlines, that silly skit for the Talent Assembly, spiced the exhilaration of that final moment when, with a flip of their tassels, the seniors suddenly became alumni of THS.

If that's Senior Office, lead me to it!

Juniors

Early in September the class of '52 proudly entered THS as full-fledged juniors. They didn't waste any time in making a name for themselves. By helping out the Junior Red Cross, becoming Service Officers, working on the Traffic Council and helping such organizations as Honor Service Society and Social Hour Committees, they soon established themselves as the future leaders of the school. Doug Holsclaw and Jim Milligan represented the class on the Student Council.

Bob Dailey, class president, and Mr. Ernest Mariscal, class advisor, began early in the year to make plans for the annual Junior-Senior prom. With the help of the Junior Council; the Prom Committee; Bob Row 1: Larriva, Boyle, Wright.

Row 2: Mathews, Milligan, Dailey, Holsclaw.

Goode, Vice-president, and Ann Mathews, Secretary, the final arrangements and decorations were completed.

The theme was kept a dark secret until April 14 when the class of '52 presented "The Sweetheart Ball" for the seniors. The doors of the cafeteria opened to reveal a wonderland of red and white with strains of "Will You Remember?" the theme song in the background.

In May the juniors saw some of their classmates chosen to join the National Honor Society. From these members will be chosen the organization's officers for next year. The same month 16 boys and girls were chosen from the top third of the class to act as Junior Guards at graduation.

With "Will You Remember?" always in their hearts, the class of '52 will find it hard to forget their junior year.

Sophomores

"Now my next class is on the second floor on the Sixth Street side two doors to the right." This was only one of many mixed-up sayings which often slipped through the lips of new students at THS. From the tone of superiority adopted by the Juniors and Seniors, one could recognize these people as SOPH-MORES.

Feeling rather out of place at first, the new sophomores quickly worked themselves into the program of activities at Tucson High. Toward the end of September, they elected Pat Flood to preside over all meetings as President. He was assisted by John Barnett, Vice-president, and Liz Cooper, Secretary. "Councilmen" was the name given to Marilyn McNeil and Scott Westmoreland.

Tom Fredina, a U of A graduate in his first year of teaching at Tucson High, helped the sophomores as advisor in adapting themselves to their new school. Plans for the year were not discussed as a whole until January 28, when sophomores gathered en masse to "map out their course" for the remainder of the year.

Although the whole school supported the Red Cross' plan for continued adoption of the Greek boy and Finnish girl, the sophomores made this project their specific undertaking by raising sufficient funds to send several Care packages to these children.

Row 1: Overpeck, Flood, Yohe.

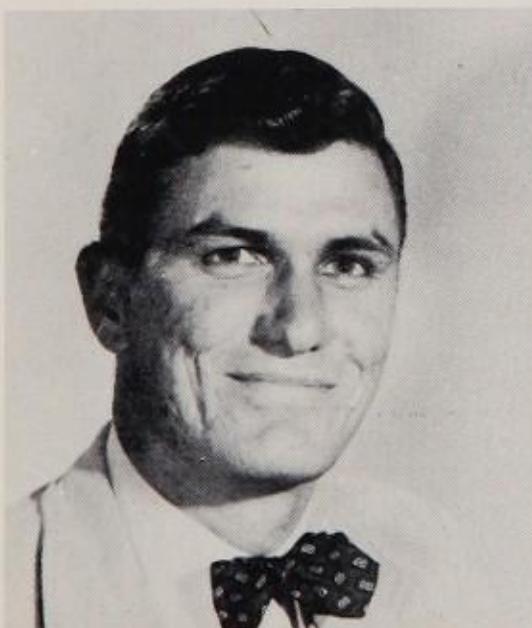

Row 2: Fimbres, McNeill, Johnson, Andrews, Kershner.

Cooper, Reisler, Freudenthal, Nabours.

As a fitting finale for a successful year, the sophomores "hopped in the puddles" on April 21. Outside the weather was balmy, but the sophomores helped April live up to its reputation of showers. At first glance it was thought that they had made careful arrangements with the weather man, but the realistic puddles, rain and garlands of brightly-blooming spring flowers turned out to be the clever products of human hands, mainly those of the Decoration Committee.

The sophomores danced to such "rainy time" tunes as "Stormy Weather", "April Showers" and "Rain", played by the Hi Cats, but rested their weary feet occasionally while listening to the talented performances of their fellow members.

Though no one actually got wet, the class of '53 will remember their "Puddle Hop" as one of their happiest experiences of sophomore year!

JASON "RED" GREER
Coach

Rated by virtually every coach in the know as the team headed for Class A laurels, the Badgers nevertheless started slowly and moved along even more slowly until with the return of halfback Craig Drachman, early-season absentee, they caught fire to end the season in a complete reversal of pace.

Sporting two wins and a tie against three losses, the Badgers reeled off one of the most astounding upsets seen in recent years in Arizona prep football when they completely swamped the heavily-favored Phoenix Union Coyotes 39-0 in game No. 6.

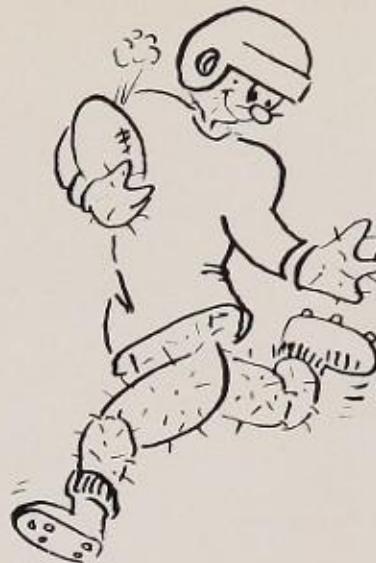

The well-balanced Badger forward wall finally found itself in the PU affair, along with the heralded Tucson running attack. A. V. Humphrys and Drachman spearheaded the attack which caught their opponents completely off guard. It was also in this game that Jason (Red) Greer, Tucson mentor, switched the signal-calling duties from quarterback Bill Codd to halfback Humphrys. This proved to be one of the year's best strategical moves for Tucson as the Badgers boomed off yardage in large chunks while coming down the stretch.

The Badgers continued their winning ways for the remainder of the season as they downed Glendale, Douglas and Amphitheater in swift succession.

The season finale, the Tucson-Amphi tussle, established for coming seasons an annual Thanksgiving Day battle between the crosstown rivals.

To review the season's opening, the Badgers tied a rough California aggregation from Los Angeles' Roosevelt High 19-19 in the closing minutes of an exciting tilt, then jumped on victory's wings with a 32-6 stunning of the Bisbee Pumas in their second match.

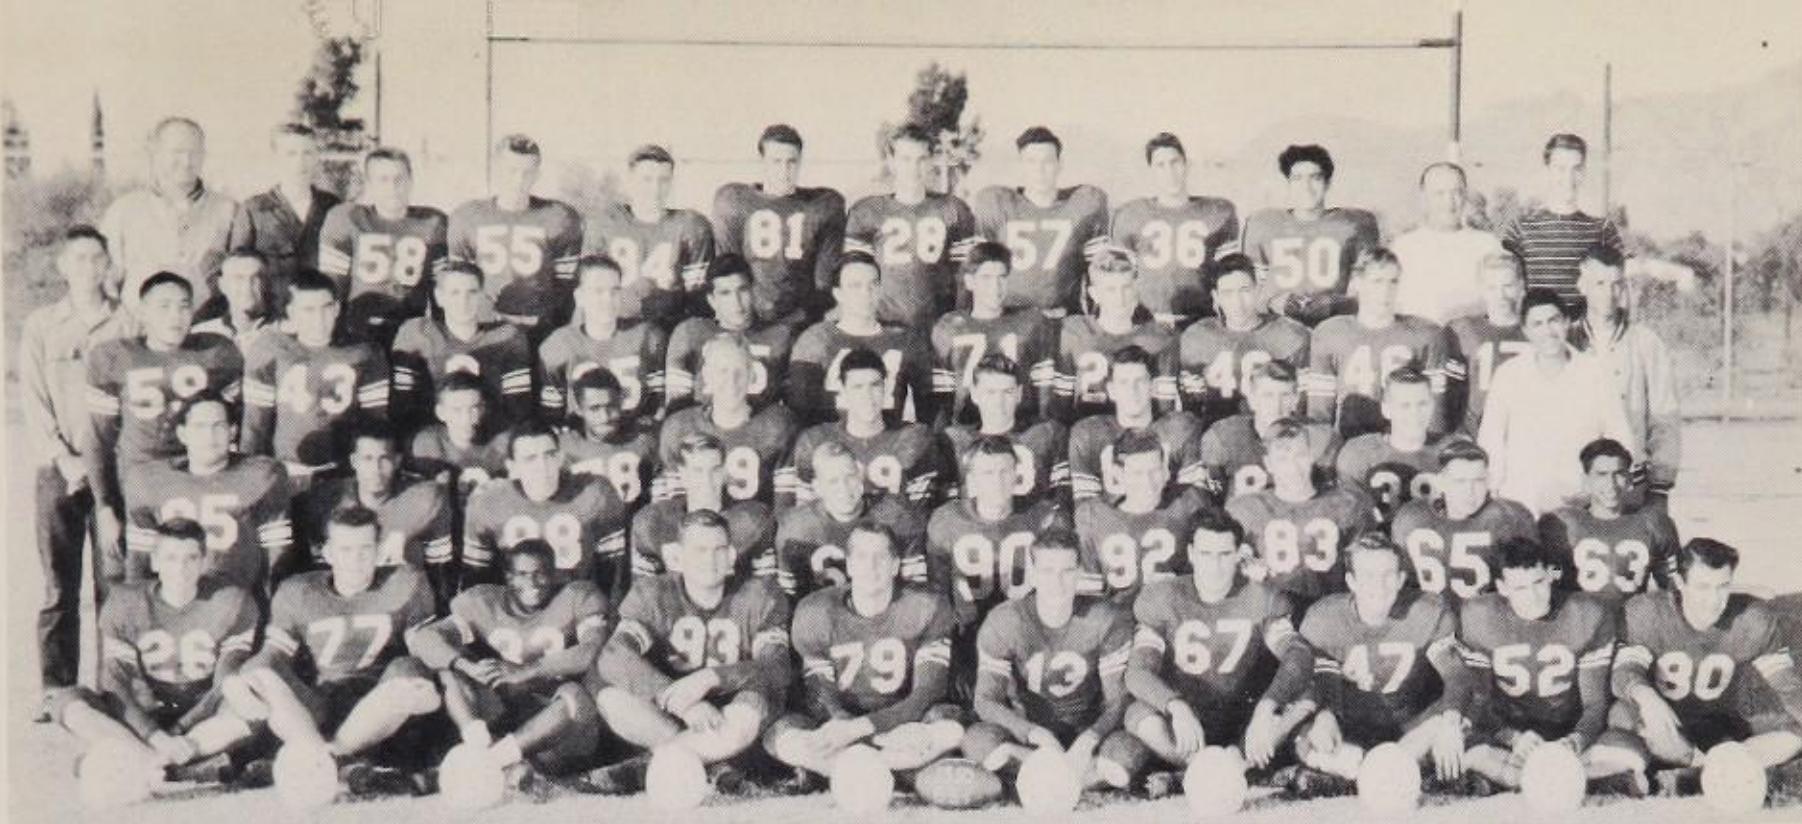

North Phoenix proved too much for the Badgers when they pounded the locals 45-6 on the Tucson gridiron. The following Friday, however, the red-and-white team ran over Yuma 33-13. The visiting St. Mary's Knights booted the THS eleven 21-0 to end on a sour note a three weeks' home stand for the Badgers.

Tucson could do no better away from home when they traveled to the Salt River Valley for a meeting with the eventual state champion, the Mesa Jackrabbits. The Badgers sustained a 41-13 lacing for the season's second worst defeat.

But for all these dark moments, Tucson redeemed themselves with their beforementioned win over Phoenix Union and subsequent games.

The starting eleven for the Badgers during the major part of the season were Sam Kavathas and Larry Monier, ends; Charles Delfosse and Glen Bouschet, tackles; Alex Crutchfield and Bob Boyle, guards; Chuck Irwin, center; and Bill Worthington, Bill Codd, Humphrys and Drachman, backs.

Such was the value of Drachman's punting and running that although he missed four of the first Badger games with a dislocated shoulder he still was placed at a starting halfback slot on the all-class A team. Delfosse rated second team tackle on the dream team for his play, and Boyle received honorable mention in the selections.

THS' sophomore football team completed a successful season with a record of five wins, no losses and one tie.

Although the system of play was new to the majority of the players, the Cubs progressed rapidly from the beginning of the season under the guidance of Head Coach Francis Rickert and his assistant, Tom Fridena.

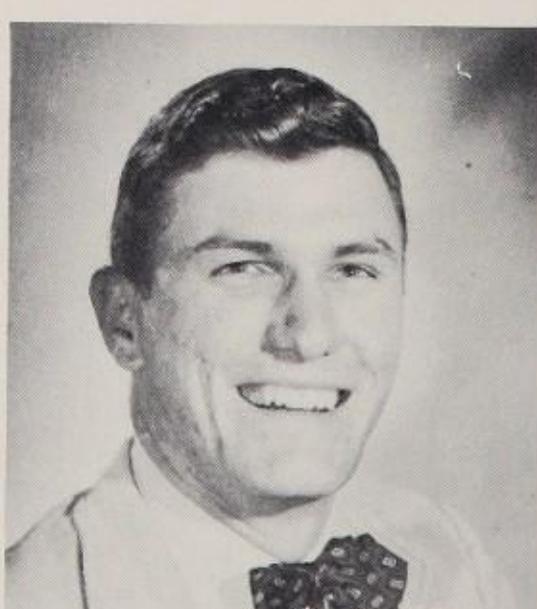

The season's curtain raiser with the Tucson Indian School ended in a 6-6 tie, but after that, the Cubs went on to scale the heights of victory over the Casa Grande J. V.'s, the Nogales J. V.'s, a double win over the Amphi Junior Varsity and a win over the Indian School, which was sweet revenge after the first tie.

The Cubs will present a galaxy of material to help Coach Jason (Red) Greer build his team for the 1951 season. Heading this array of Cub stars will be its competent quarterback, Pat Flood. Pat was also partner in a very effective passing combination with Jim Markins. Another outstanding player in the backfield was Bob Nabours, whose line plunging and broken field running made him the team's highest scorer. Jim Kimberlin and Mark Owens also played important roles in their backfield positions.

BUD DOOLEN
Coach

Previous to the start of the 1950-51 cage season, the general consensus of the experts was that Tucson, Phoenix Union and Mesa were the teams to watch for season-finale honors. Probably the prognosticators were never more right.

Phoenix Union led the Class A pack to the finish, with Tucson High close behind. But then the news came! Because Phoenix Union had used an ineligible player in some of its games, Tucson was elevated to the No. 1 spot in league standings, followed by Mesa.

The jumbling of team positions threw more emphasis on the post-season Class A basketball tourney with Mesa copping tournament laurels by downing Phoenix Union, previous victor over Tucson in the semi-finals.

The Badgers lost only 4 out of 20 of their regular-season games. Two of their wins over Mesa, winner of the tournament, proved how closely bunched the top cage teams were.

Tucson Coach B. C. "Bud" Doolen introduced a rather novel system into his early-season games with his two-platoon system. Fairly strong in reserves, Doolen produced one combine built on speed and aggressiveness, while the other was more deliberate and set in styles of play.

Don't look now, but there's a man behind you!

Three Tucson cagers won honors for their play during the 1951 season. Sophomore Johnny Burton was selected as a member of the first team all-tournament squad. Charley Oden and Roy Brown were both picked to represent Tucson High in the all-star games this summer. These three plus Frank Lockhart and Johnny Werstler made up THS' first team.

*"The foe may be strong, yet

The THS 1950-'51 pack of basketball "cubs", with an array of talent that should help Bud Doolen form his Badger quint next year, finished this season's schedule with a win-loss record of 11-4 respectively. Such a tabulation is enviable, for these boys, playing their first season of high school ball as sophomores, had to face opponents with two or three years of basketball experience.

Outstanding wins included the cubs' 1-point victory over Phoenix Union's Junior Varsity Club at Phoenix. In this thriller the cubs trailed by 12 points at the mid-way intermission and 6 going into the final quarter, before going on to eke out their narrow margin of victory. Another important triumph fell to the cubs at the expense of the Phoenix Tech J. V. quint here. This victory was especially gratifying because the Phoenix Techers had previously been undefeated and had, moreover, a win over THS cubs on the positive side of their ledger.

Marvin Quinn, the tallest man on the squad and first team center, led the scoring parade at the end of the season. Quinn's ability to hit from close in or at a distance with either hand, plus outstanding ability at the free throw, gave him the above-mentioned honor. Other high scorers included Louie Hopkins, Arthur (Toody) Price and Napoleon Wilson. Russ Davis, although erratic, was another good scorer.

Keen rivalry and many equally talented players made J. V. Coach Jim White's "Cubs" one of the best groups in the state.

HANK SLAGLE
Coach

THS, state champs of last year, had again a baseball aggregation capable of capturing the state crown, although the baseball season had barely begun when the TUCSONIAN went to press.

Coach Hank Slagle (in his tenth year of coaching at Tucson High) was once again able to build a team of men qualifying as the most formidable opponent to any "horseshiders" in the state. Slagle's great generalship, well represented by his team's records, has ranked him among the best prep coaches in the state.

This year the Badgers fielded an array of capable men. Considering the line-up, one must start at the catching position where Glen Festin, Dick Manzo and Dick Torres (who was injured early in the season) shared responsibilities. At first base Russ Gragg predominated. Russ, co-captain of the Badgers, was a heavy-hitting, dangerous, clutch hitter. Arnold Elias held the keystone in a position familiar to him through three years of high school ball. Alex (Chano) Valdez, a dependable man in all situations, handled the shortstop chores. Clutch-hitter Bill Codd alternated with Calistro Felix at the hot third-base corner. Out in the right pasture we found constantly dependable clean-up man Bill Worthington, whose specialties were long-distance clouting and reliable fielding. Over in center field Art (Tutti) Lopez, the other half of the co-captaincy, was an important spoke in the baseball wheel. In left field, little Lee Meyers was stationed. Lee's abilities in fielding and skillful use of the stick gave him a starting position last year also, although he was only a sophomore.

Along with the players mentioned, Coach Slagle has gone along in most games this year with the following five pitchers: Glen Bouschet, controlled speed pitcher; George Smith, junior hurler; Al (Cordo) Gallego, speed ball artist; Fred Valles, whose curve was his greatest asset, and finally southpaw Jerry Tolle, basketball and baseball letterman, who was able to come through at opportune times. These players, coupled with fair depth in reserves, made up Tucson High's baseball team.

This year's Badgers with a steady year at the plate and infield, have given us plenty of thrills with fielding finesse, capable stick-work and clever pitching.

What's the rush, there's no one there!

 Row 4: Orozco, Quihuis, Valencia, Torres, Dinwiddie, Ramos, Parton.

THS' baseball representatives from the sophomore class, the 1951 "Cubs", showed, as far as this season had progressed, a year of much promise.

"The "yearlings" under the leadership of Ted Bailey shaped up with ample power at the plate, fielding finesse and a general "savvy" of the game. Although all of the boys were in their first year of high school ball, many of them had some experience on the sandlots while in junior high.

The Cubs had an outfield of long ball hitters including Bill Oden, Joel Favara and Chuck Barrickman. Holding the sack at first was all-round athlete Pat Flood, who, although he began late, was still able to hold down a first-string slot.

At second base Don (Swami) Swain cavorted. This little package was as explosive on line-drive hits as he was a sure fielding player. At the hot corner another comparatively small man predominated. Don Miller could be counted on to come up with that crack play or hit at the plate.

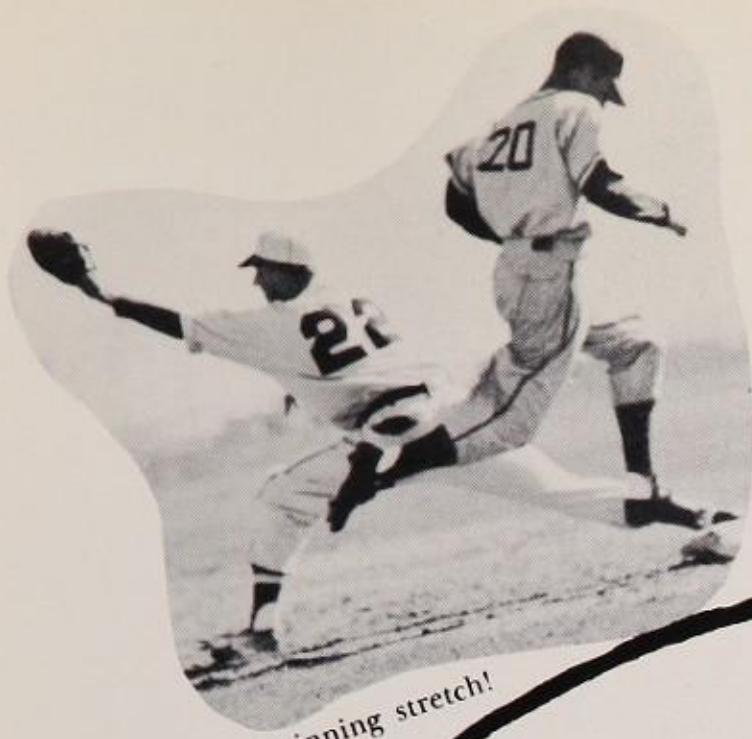

"Mr. In-between", Eddie Torres, was at the shortstop position and came, throughout the early part of the season, to gain his place. Eddie, who had quite a bit of experience on sandlots, hit from the port-side of the plate.

As for pitchers, the team was almost over-stocked with nine capable ones including Fernie Valencia, Bill Steadman, Bert Kinerk, Tom Dinwiddie, Danny Leal, Tom Scott, Carroll Coleman, Joe Edwards and Tommy Foust. These boys could go a long way in solving Badger Coach Hank Slagle's pitching worries during the next two seasons.

On the receiving end of the batters' problem Henry Ramos and Jimmy Woods shared duties.

TRACK

MR. VAN HORNE
Coach

Track practice at THS began last January, with all eyes focused hopefully on recapturing the state championship. A solid base of proven point winners was strengthened by a substantial number of promising new performers.

Flexing their muscles for the first time, "Doc" Van Horne's men captured second place in the Mesa Invitational Track and Field Meet. Final outcome of the Meet was in doubt until the last event, the 880-yard relay. North Phoenix outran Tucson and insured their victory of the 4-way Meet with  $45 \frac{3}{4}$  points. Tucson was close behind with  $40 \frac{3}{4}$  points, followed by Phoenix Union and Mesa with  $35 \frac{1}{4}$  and  $20 \frac{1}{4}$  points respectively. In this meet, Badger star Alfonso Harris broke the meet record with a time of 0:51.7 in the 440 and tied another record in the 100-yard dash with a sizzling 10.4 record run.

A week later the Badger thinclads journeyed to Casa Grande for a triangular meet with the Cougars and the North Phoenix Mustangs. Upsetting the North High  $52 \frac{1}{3}$  to  $48 \frac{1}{6}$ , Richard Ford's winning leap in the broad jump was one of the highlights of the victory. Doran Porter's pole vault of 11 feet 3 inches was also noteworthy. Harris won the 440 and 220 and outran Casa Grande's favored Johnny Morgan to win another 5 points in the 100-yard dash.

The next encounter of the Badgers was a dual meet with Mesa at the Cherry Street oval, in which the Tucson men thumped Mesa 80 to 33. Harris won with his 3 sprints, and Larry Monier captured both hurdle events. Thrilling the crowd Frank Lockhart soared within an inch of 6 feet in a splendid exhibition of high-jumping.

No mercy was shown by the Badger trackmen in the dual meet with cross-town rival Amphitheatre. Through their consistent performance the Badgers rolled up a total of 11 first and 9 second places for a resounding victory of  $90\frac{2}{3}$  to  $22\frac{1}{3}$ . High point men for Tucson were Harris with 15, Porter with 12 and Monier with 10 markers.

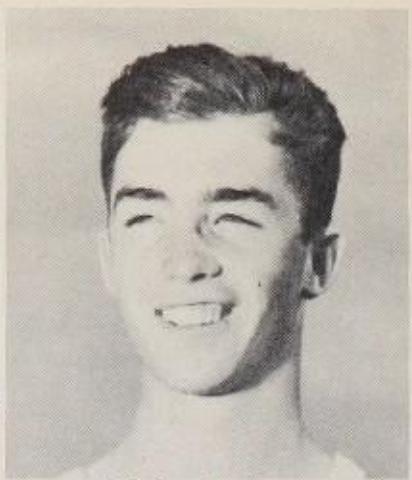

Doran Porter and Alfonso Harris each scored 15 points the next weekend to pace the Badgers to a surprisingly easy victory over the University of Arizona Freshmen and Amphitheatre Panthers at the THS field.

The Badger Cubs, coached by Elbert Brooks, opened their season here in the Tucson Relays. Competing against varsity squads of 6 southern Arizona high schools, the Cubs placed a healthy third behind the Casa Grande and Amphitheatre varsities. Two weeks later, the Cubs overpowered the Tucson Indian School 74 2/3 to 38 1/3 in a dual meet on home grounds.

Dual meets were held later in the season with Benson varsity and the North Phoenix and Phoenix Union junior-varsity squads.

Outstanding performers for the Cubs were high jumper Ben Barber and half-milers Bob Nabours and John Carmichael, all of whom later advanced to the varsity. Also valuable were milers Pat McCourtney and Ted McKee; 440-men George Caldwell, George Meyers and Ed Faux; sprinters Bob Alter, Bill Kordsiemon, Al Lopez, Bob Buckles and Myrel Hobbs; hurdlers Bill Carrell and John Carr; jumper John Hill; shot putter Ed Fineman; and discus thrower-pole vaulter Charles Woods.

Continuing as one of the top tennis teams in the state, THS indicated from the outset of the season that it would finish either as champ or runner-up.

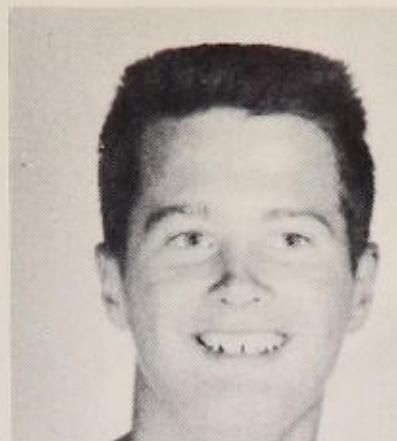

Of the nine players, the four boys holding top positions were Neal Kurn, Paul Diehl, Bob Diehl, and Bob Pesquiera. These four net stars were so close in competition that no one player could be singled out as high man.

Slow motion!

As in the preceding year, the team boasted a family affair. Besides twins Bob and David Diehl, their brother Paul was on hand to complete the "dangerous" trio.

With Mesa offering the greatest competition, the Badgers held their own by standing up to all other Arizona schools.

For the third year the team was coached by William Duffen, who provided the spark which spurred them on to victories and to the prominent place they now occupy on the ladder of tennis prestige.

Fare, birdie, bogie, par, chip — sound like a new language class to you? It's THS' golf team discussing their daily practices. Hard at work from 3:00 to 6:00 during the Spring semester at El Rio Country Club, the boys substitute this major sport for a regular P.E. period.

Under the coaching of Mr. James Black, the team captured medal play games from all its opponents but lost a match play game to West Phoenix. A very satisfying victory was their win over the University of Arizona varsity squad.

Jim Warren is defending State Champion and THS is defending Medal Play Champion in this year's 36-hole University of Arizona State Championships.

Because of the complicated job of figuring scores, averages and standings, a new office of secretary was established and filled by Neil Brown. Jim Warren, Jack Conrad, Bob Ramirez, Neil Brown, Tom Slutes, Henry Medina and Gilbert Bustamante were consistent the best players. Six golfers graduated this term, 5 of whom were on the top team.

Big, broad shoulders . . . Plenty of muscle . . . Abundant school spirit . . . While these aren't requirements for membership in the Letterman's Club, they surely are identifying marks for its members. For positive identification, each club member has the familiar red sweater with a large, red chenille "T" on the side.

Presided over by Frank Lockhart, with Richard Ford as Secretary, the club started the year in a festive mood with an informal dance at Rancho Barra Nada to get its members acquainted.

This group of husky boys staged one of the most successful dances of the year with their "All Sports Dance" in February.

The gay affair boasted sports silhouettes and dummies of baseball and football players. Responsible for these sparkling decorations, which also included red and white banners, was Vice-president Bill Worthington.

Shifting into high gear, the Lettermen held a final initiation in May, admitting more members who were active in sports. The purpose of the Club is to promote athletics and good sportsmanship in the school.

With Henry Egbert as advisor, the organization was one of the school's busiest clubs in 1950-51, with a full agenda and more than fifty athletes to its credit.

MISS HENRY
Coach

Completing one of the most successful seasons in many years, the girls composing the tennis team have climbed rapidly up the ladder. The tennis ladder determines the position of the girls competing for the top five rungs on the ladder. These five make up the girls' tennis team, and the top ten, the advanced tennis class.

In this class, under the guidance of Miss Sally Henry, the girls learn the fundamental strokes of tennis besides playing practice matches with one another.

A minimum of one match a week must be turned in by each girl. In addition to these "ladder" matches, the team also competes with other Arizona high schools. This year's schedule included Mesa, North Phoenix, West Phoenix and Yuma.

Such tournaments as the Arizona

Closed in Tempe, the Southwestern in Phoenix and the Arizona Open in Tucson give the girls a chance for individual honors in intrastate and southwestern competition.

University Week is the final event in which they take part, with several girls from each high school in the state vieing for top honors.

"T" Club

Sally Sanctet, Secretary; Kay Tolson, President; Norma Endres, Treasurer.

No longer must you have the once-thought-of "typical athletic figure" to be a member of the Girl's "T" Club. For, as was evident this year, many of THS' most shapely girls were members of this club.

As in the past, the Big "T"-Club event was the Thanksgiving basketball game. Admission to this event was an item of food, the total collection of which was given to a needy family. Picnics, hayrides and initiations at Tucson Mountain Park were a few of the other functions this year.

Differing from the similar organization, the Letterman's Club, the girls are striving for a more feminine athletic organization. A few of their objectives for this year were to develop leadership and to gain knowledge in physical education work.

The club's purpose was centered about promoting good sportsmanship and working with other girls.

I'm glad to see you; gimme the ball!

G. S. L.

Numerous sporting opportunities were afforded to interested girls through the Girls' Athletic Association sponsored by the Physical Education Department.

One hundred active members kept the GAA at a fast pace throughout the school year. The organization helped girls develop and improve their skill in such sports as hockey, handball, golf, basketball, baseball, archery and swimming.

The GAA's big social event of the year, the annual banquet was well attended, a typical situation when food is both plentiful and delicious!

Giving experience to girls in assisting with class work and co-operating with other groups for the betterment of the school, GSL members took care of lost locks and gym clothes, checked towels and kept track of equipment.

Each member had to have good grades in all classes as well as a "2" average in P.E. Interest in extra-curricular sports was also required.

A picnic in January and another in the spring gave the girls time for recreation and food and also a chance to become better acquainted with each other.

Intramural Sports

"Hey, Jake, are you going out for varsity football this year?"

"Naw, I just haven't got time. But I am going to play intramural football!"

It was for this boy and many other boys and girls at THS, who for some reason couldn't participate in varsity sports, that the intramural sports program was inaugurated.

There was almost no end to the array of sports offered to boys: football in the fall; basketball, winter; swimming and tennis, summer; plus all year 'rounders such as wrestling, boxing and other minor sports.

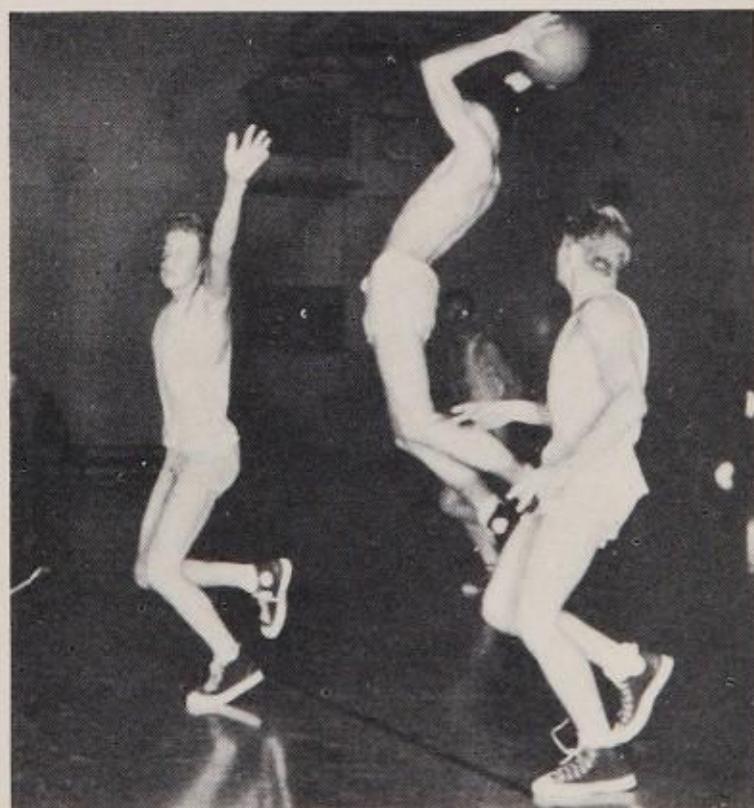

Although the girls didn't go in for such strenuous sports as football, they played ping-pong, horseshoes, volleyball, tennis, and when the weather was warm, swimming became a favorite.

But "when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love" — and girls — volleyball, swimming, tennis and ping-pong were offered as double mixed sports. Here the boys had an opportunity to display their powers, and the girls, although skilled sportswise, surely didn't use all their charms and skill strictly on volleyball!!!

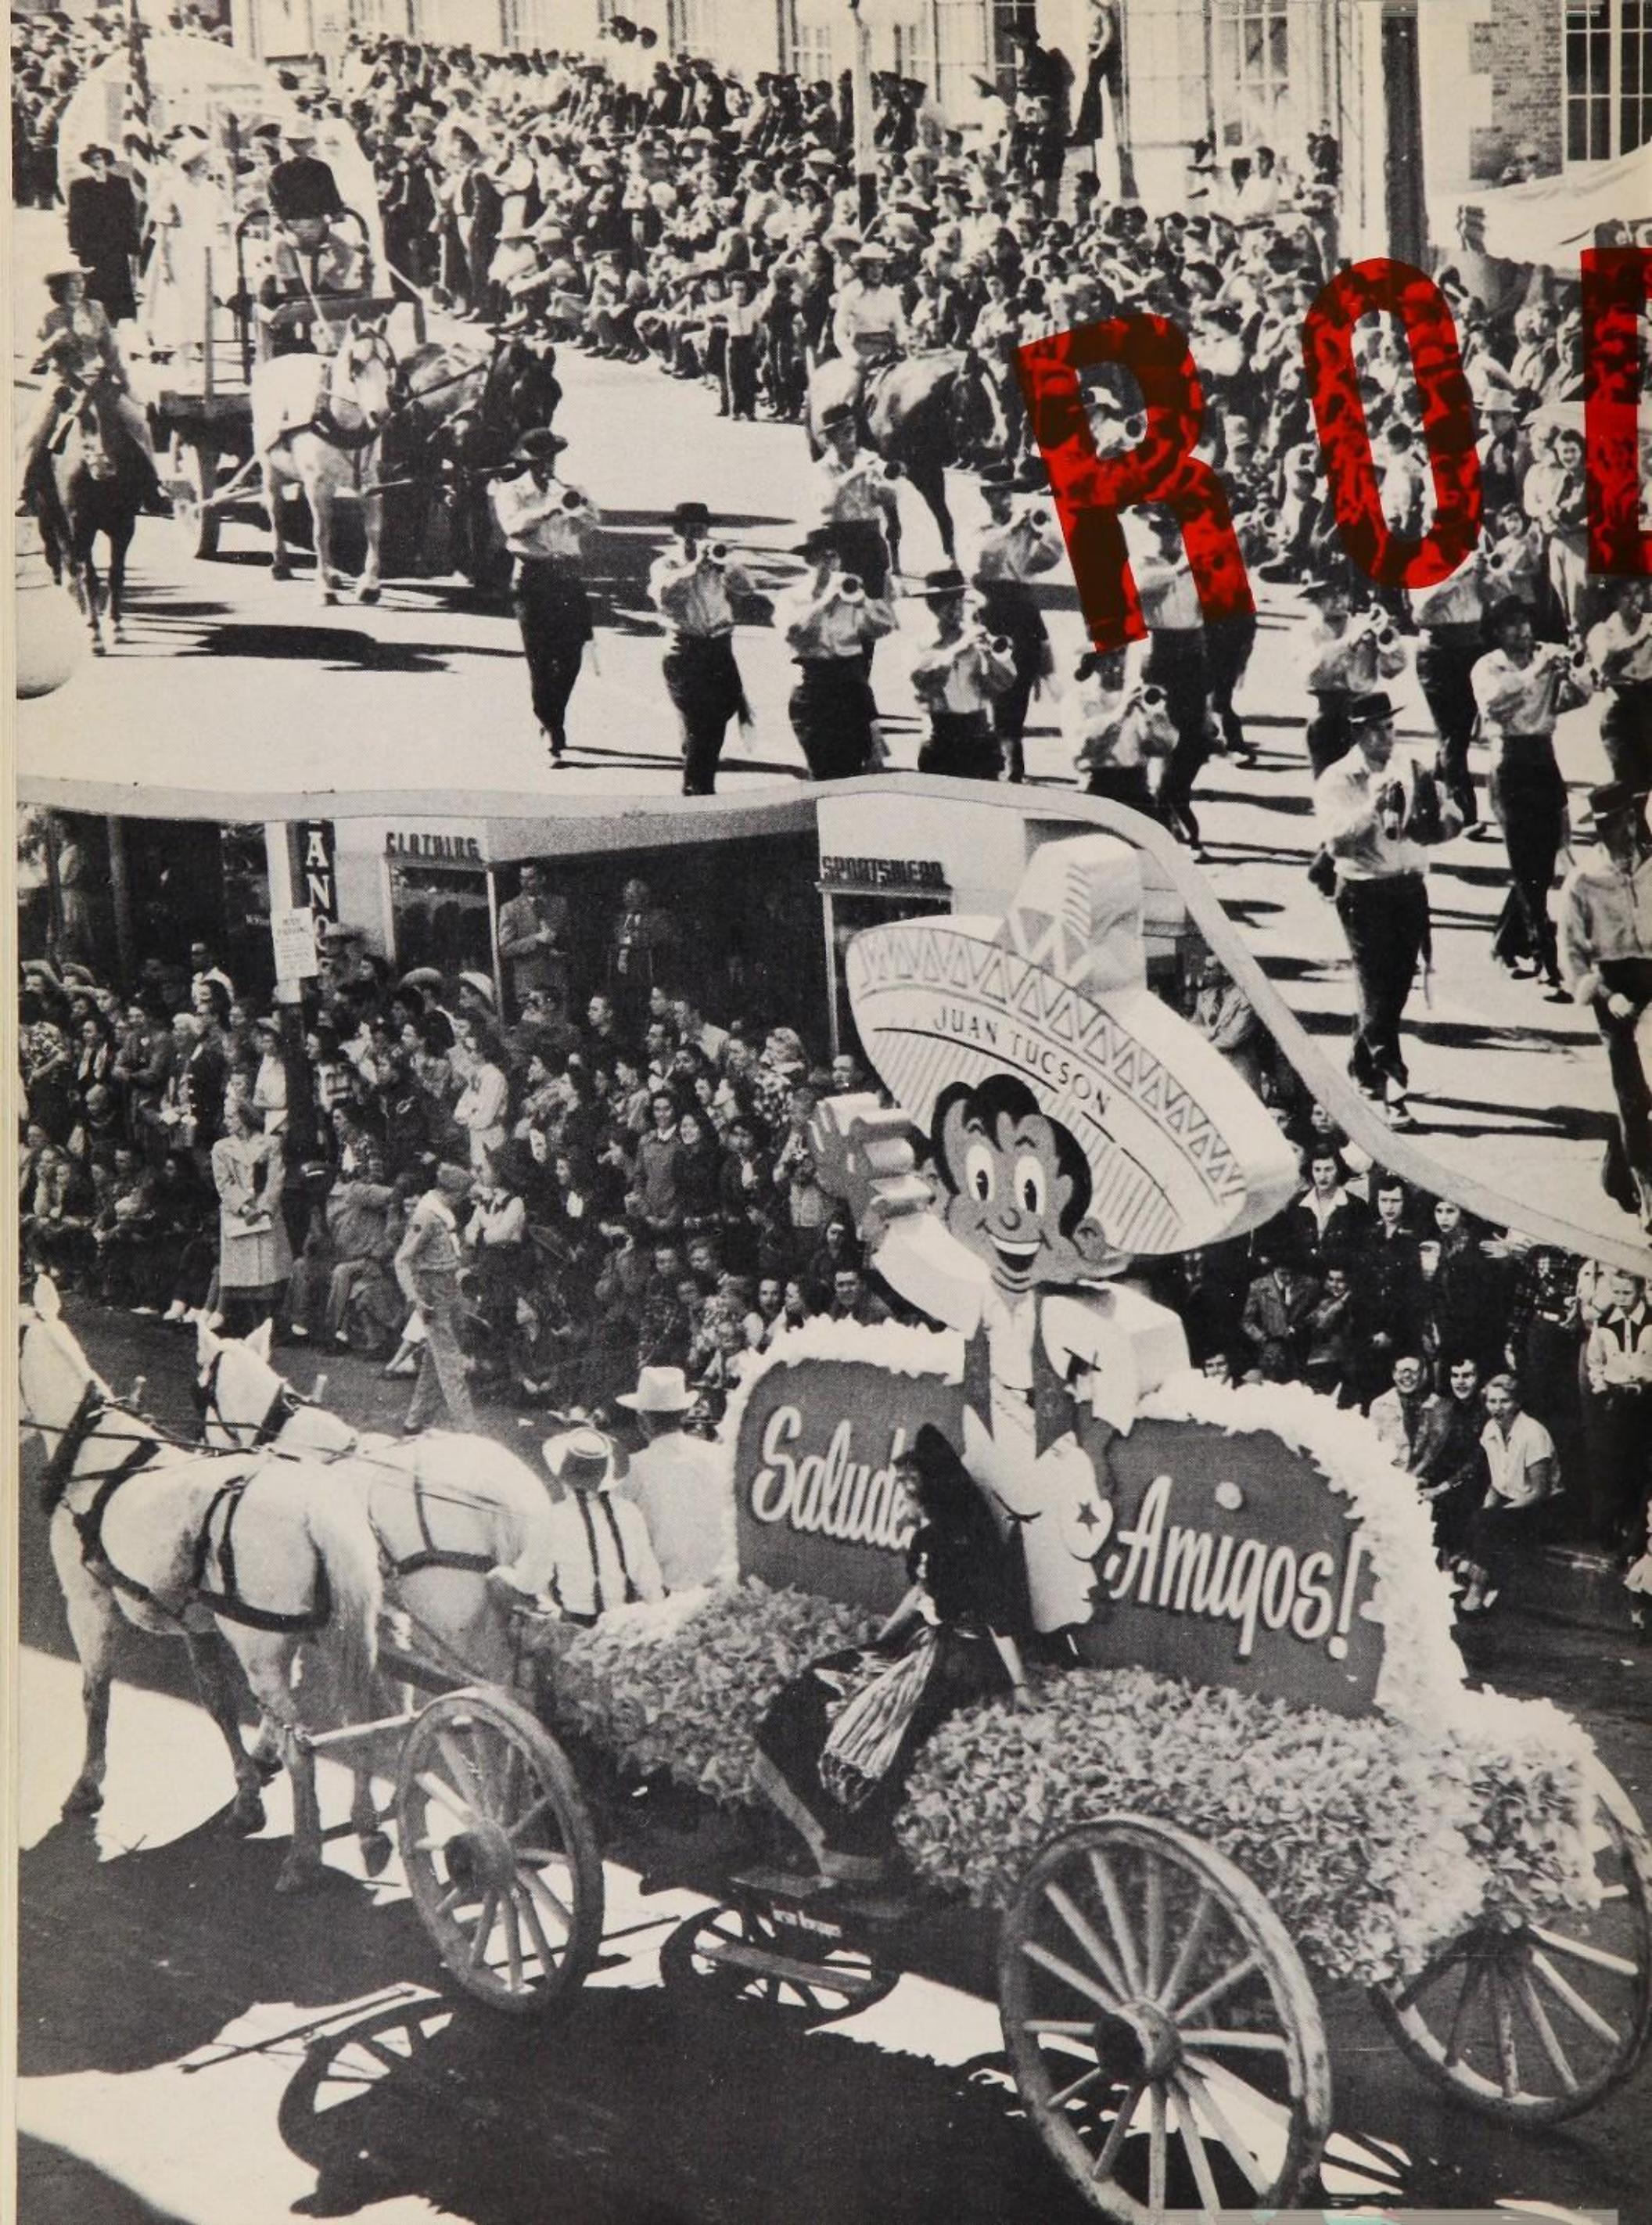

In the fall the sophomore, junior and senior boys battled feverishly on behalf of their own classes in the Intra-Class Track Meet. Competition ran high, and many outstanding track "hopefuls" made their debut. A trophy was awarded to the victorious class at the track meet, and trophies were also given to the boy and girl earning the greatest number of points, based on actual sports participation throughout the entire year.

The six boys and girls who comprised the Intramural Board, along with sponsors Gayle Bell and Opal Bane, were the "Big Chiefs" of the whole intramural program, making decisions, planning activities and keeping the records up to date.

Stop, Look and shoot.

Rodeo

"Ride 'em, Cowboy!" Rodeo season is here again! For the past 26 years Tucson has been host to the "Fiesta de los Vaqueros" — the Festival of the Cowboys. The rodeo draws world-famous riders and personalities from all parts of the country, including this year Arizona's Governor Howard Pyle; Ignacio Soto, Governor of Sonora, Mexico, and Hopalong Cassidy, the idol of children everywhere.

The parade which opens the annual celebration began when the rodeo contestants used to ride through town giving the citizens an idea of what was to come. A few years after the first "Fiesta", the parade was officially inaugurated. This parade is the only one in the world in which motor-powered vehicles are not allowed to enter.

Everyone "goes western" during rodeo week. At THS, in keeping with the festival spirit, the girls wear levis and frontier pants; the boys, their gaudiest western shirts.

Tucson High's parade entry is a rodeo queen chosen from the student body in a contest sponsored annually by the CACTUS CHRONICLE. This is the twelfth year that THS has been electing a rodeo queen. The idea originated as a popularity contest with the privilege of riding in the parade as one of the queen's prizes. This year's entry included Rodeo Queen Sally Sancet and her four attendants, Yvonne Wade, Tissie French, Kate Sasse and Teta Martyn.

Short brown hair, a pair of blue eyes that always have a mischievous twinkle in them, and a very contagious laugh, describe Sally. Active in G.S.L. and G.A.A., she plans a future in physical education. Girls' Social Hour, Terpsichoros, Songleading and managing production for THE TUCSONIAN are just a few of her many activities.

Although the "Fiesta de los Vaqueros" lasts only four days, everyone has stored away enough memories of the parade, the queen and the rodeo to last them until another Fiesta time rolls around.

It takes a year to build a year book and a devoted staff to do it well.

This volume began 'way back in May, 1950, when Mrs. Mallis, advisor, and staff heads Kathy Stofft, Sally Sanctet and Mary Golberg first sat down to plan the book, page by page, and set up the original dummy.

With that dummy as a guide, photographers Ken Kemmeries and Dale Funk swung into action, getting the "shots" we all want to remember.

Working with the writers, typing staff, directed by Mary Louise Gump, solved the puzzles in many hand-written masterpieces and converted them into legible copy for the printer.

Art editor, Barbara Bergquist, and her assistants conspired to carry the 'Old Pueblo' theme through the book with cartoons.

Finally, the production staff headed by Sally Sancet took over the major task of assembling everything for the printers, beginning with the gooey job of pasting up the panels of pictures and including emergency "retakes" on photos when an over-eager worker snipped an ear or more from a student's portrait.

The Tucsonian would not have appeared without cooperation from advertisers, and there would have been few of those were it not for the intensive work and solicitation of the advertising staff headed by co-managers Shirley Condit and Beverly Perkins.

Then, and only then, could printing commence, the necessary proof-reading be done, and the binding accomplished — all in time for distribution before the school year ended.

Cries of "Look whose picture is in the Chronicle!" have been heard through THS' halls for 32 years. It is one of the few items that haven't risen in price on today's inflated market! Where else could you find so much news and humor for an activity ticket or a nickel?

From the beginning, staff members settled down for a long hard year of copy, galley proofs and dummies in the never-ending struggle against deadlines. Advertising salesmen haunted local merchants, and busy typists transformed a reporter's illegible scrawl into a readable manuscript. The school's own shutter-bugs provided the pictures. Struggling for breath in the mob of eager subscribers, the distribution staff faithfully distributed the papers in the CHRONICLE office and outside Senior Office and the cafeteria.

This year the staff was spared chilly midnight trips to the printers because for the first time the paper was made up at school. Monday night found editors hard at work cutting, arranging and gluing.

Christmas and Thanksgiving brought special issues, the former being printed in red ink with yuletide poems and stories submitted by all students.

In February it was almost possible to hear the sound of hoof beats as the staffs trotted to work on the Rodeo issue with its sponsorship of the Queen Contest. Great secrecy shrouded the office until the fateful announcement of the winner. Sally Sanctet won the coveted title this year.

"More work in less time" was the goal toward which the Quarterly staff directed their efforts this year. In the record time of only six weeks the initial issue for 1950-51 was distributed. This year saw four editions, each with its own seasonal theme.

Ghosts, goblins and witches dominated the art work of the first magazine which was adorned with an eerie black and orange cover. Among the many humorous articles was "D.O.A.", a comic murder story. On the more serious side was a series of personality sketches describing the Student Body officers. For the center spread, by the trick photography of Graphic Arts, the Quarterly staff heads danced merrily around pumpkins of astonishing shapes and sizes.

In this edition the sophomore class officers were characterized as only sophomores can be! "The Night Before Christmas" found itself in many different walks of life as a surprise center page. The end sheet of red tissue paper, together with the bright green and white cover, set just the right mood for the holiday spirit.

Rodeo time and spring always come together, and the third Quarterly for this year was right in step. Using "Spring" as the general subject, it really combined a little bit of everything. Income tax, St. Patrick's Day and Rodeo season added variety to the table of contents of this issue with the third in the series of class officer sketches publicizing the Junior Class.

Dreams began to become realities as graduation drew near. Once again THS' literary magazine was in the swing of things. Directed especially toward the seniors, pictures and stories concentrated on recalling to mind fond remembrances of the past school year. To make this issue really different, a photograph of a few seniors in their most coveted regalia decorated the cover. Stories on every memorable phase of the year were featured, making this printing the largest of the year.

According to Editor Zita Leeson, the contents were tailored to appeal more to the average student with no fields of literature slighted in the average 36 pages of each issue.

National Honor Society

Have you wondered who those students are who seem to possess all of the desirable virtues: character, scholarship, service and leadership? The answer is, of course, that they are members of the National Honor Society.

This distinction is difficult to attain, and only 125 students each year receive membership. The first group of members was initiated in the spring of '50, and several other initiations were conducted during the year for seniors.

The 1950-51 membership was described by President Steve Schneider, as "active." This is no understatement, for a great deal of work was necessary to fulfill the goal of the organization, which is to help members become well-rounded individuals through striving for good scholarship, capable leadership, gracious service and a high degree of character. At the beginning of the year, NHS officers gave an assembly, to explain the four precepts, thus offering new THS students an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the Society.

This year's group, guided by Miss Laura Gale, undertook two major projects. Though of minor importance during the first semester, the Society's tutoring class expanded as the second semester commenced. Purely on a voluntary basis, the members offered their time and

The second project was that of keeping a record of worthwhile accomplishments of former THS students. The index is now up to date, but this project will always furnish a great deal of work for future members.

Beginning as just a small local group over twenty years ago, our chapter is now a large and active affiliate of the National Honor Society.

Thespians

"Curtain going up, curtain going up!" Another production by the Tucson Thespians was headed for success.

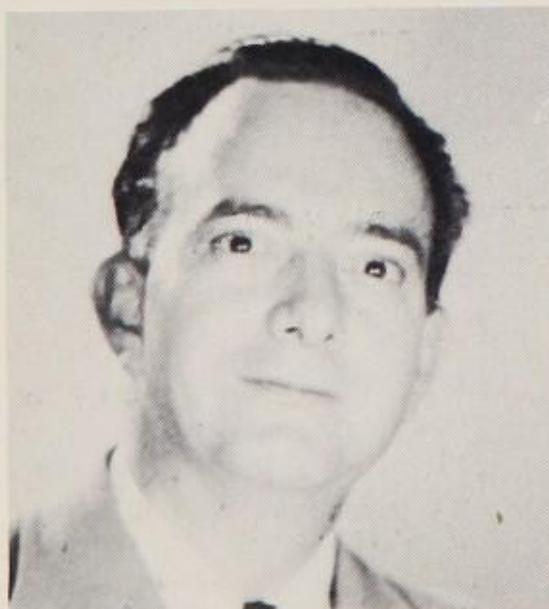

A light-hearted comedy, "Berkeley Square", tested their talents in October. In "Gramma Pulls a String," "Don't Feed the Animals" and "The Boor", a December program of one-act plays, the Thespians measured up to the Dramatic Departments high standards. On March 8 and 9 they produced "Seven Sisters."

"Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou Romeo?" Although the Dramatic Arts Department didn't go back in history quite that far in choosing John Lloyd Balderston's "Berkeley Square" for their first production of 1950-51 season, they did travel back to the 18th century. Peter Coulson, as Peter Standish, was the modern American who travels back to the time of his name-sake ancestor and falls in love with Kate Pettigrew, played by Donna Hoyt.

"Tonight at 8:15", the second program of the Drama Department, consisted of three one-act plays, "Don't Feed the Animals" by Bob Wellington, "The Boor" by Anton Tchekoff, and "Gramma Pulls the String" by Edith Barnard Delano and David Carb. "Don't Feed the Animals" showed the serious consequences that would happen if women ever took over the world and exterminated all men.

With Max Palmer cast as Grigori Stepanovitch Smirov and Caroline Burdurin as Helen Ivanovna Popov "The Boor" was second on this comedy bill. This dealt with the story of Helen, who is in complete seclusion because of the death of her husband. Grigori does his best to draw her out of herself and in the end succeeds.

As the curtains parted on the third presentation, everyone became aware of the effect of the meddling Grandmaw on the lives of all concerned. Played by Mary Kay Behnke, she proved to be a typical "Busy-body" as more of the play elapsed. Every time something would go any way she did not like, she would tactfully drop her ball of yard, and during most of the play, balls of yarn were constantly rolling over the floor.

Romance and comedy reigned supreme as Mr. Lloyd Roberts and his crew began rehearsals for "Seven Sisters." The play revolves around the life of a Hungarian peasant family consisting of a widowed mother. Mrs. Gyurcovich, played by Delia Sonenblick, and her seven daughters. She is determined to marry her three oldest daughters to rich men but has only linen, a reb parlor set and several jars of peach jam to offer as a dowry.

Lending a hand backstage to all productions were the make-up, light, wardrobe, properties and stage crews.

Band

School spirit is a matter of the emotions, and to stir those emotions, you need color, movement and music. A good band supplies them all. With its colorful uniforms, precise maneuvering and stirring music, the band of Tucson High makes it possible for each and everyone of us to identify ourselves with the fortunes of our teams and our school.

Our school band has other functions and activities. It helps to represent the school when our teams "take to the road". It gives nearly sixty public performances during the year before such groups as Rotary, Kiwanis and other civic organizations. It takes over an entire student assembly at Easter and gives a "pop-concert" during April.

Throughout the school year, it practices and practices and then practices still more in order to improve the performance of its 91 members, under the direction of Mr.

Paul L. Grimes. During the first semester of the school year, emphasis is properly on show music and on adding to the enjoyable spectacle of football games. During the second semester, the emphasis shifts to band concerts.

Present student officers of the band are Don Arnold, President; Peryno Brothers, Librarian; Hollis Armstrong, Personnel Manager; Frank Adams, Uniform Manager; and Beth Williams, Secretary.

With more and more music pouring out of records, radio, television and motion-pictures and with American music sweeping around the world, it is only natural that "live" music should be emphasized and well-represented at THS.

Our high-school orchestra of some fifty members is trained and directed by Mr. W.

Arthur Sewell, a graduate of De Pauw University in Chicago, Illinois. Student assistants Burton Gotshall and Jeanette Smith serve as Associate Director and Concertmistress, respectively. Earline Jirou is president of the orchestral group, and Barbara Lopez, Secretary.

"Orchestra" is offered as a course to students interested in concert-work. It provides not only basic training for the beginner, but useful and enjoyable experiences for those further advanced. This year, as usual, an entire student assembly was devoted to an orchestral performance. In addition, the orchestra played at the Southern Arizona Festival held at the University of Arizona last March.

Many of the individual members of the group seem headed for professional status and fame. Eight of them participated in the National Orchestra Festival in San Diego, California, this spring.

Balladeers

The sweet music we all heard when walking past the Annex was not the girls singing in the showers nor the birds warbling in the trees. It was, more than likely, the 150 girls and 59 boys who made up THS' Balladeers "exercising their vocal cords".

Under the direction of Miss Madge Utterback, fondly referred to by her students as "Teacher," the vocal group put on many programs for their school, city and state during 1950-51.

Row 3: Lauderdale, Matthews, Green, Gillespie, Jeter, Stephens, Houston, Andrews, Bambauer, Shaw, Payne, Bagshaw, Cox.

Row 4: Holsclaw, Mattox, Harris, Willett, Adams, Wood, Smith, Hon, Schober, Ballantyne, Becker.

Row 5: Olsen, Kishman, Robinson, Delfs, Rice, Miller, Tellez.

The Balladeers started the year off "on the right foot" with an assembly for all THS students.

At Christmas time, working in harmony with the advanced dance classes, they presented a Fred Waring arrangement of the "Nutcracker Suite", along with other numbers, for both THS students and the public. This impressive program certainly proved the skill of the group.

The months between January and May were busy times for Miss Utterback and her students. Two big festivals were featured at the U of A. The first on March 13 was the Southern Arizona Festival, and the second big event on April 27 was the Junior-Senior High School Festival.

But even as the end of the year approached, these singers still had their "noses pressed hard against the ole grindstone" in preparation for both the Baccalaureate and Commencement services.

Even though these students are doing what they enjoy, it still means plenty of long, hard work on their part to produce those programs that we all like so much to hear.

Hi Cats

"Hi Cats" (swing band to you sophomores) had a highly-talented crew to play for them this year and climbed steadily up the musical ladder under the direction and supervision of Mr. Hal Goodman.

Among the "highlights" of this year for the Cats was playing for the DeMolay Dance, Terpsichoros Dance and especially the Senior Prom. But the most important and longest-remembered event of the year was their 600-mile round trip, expense-free journey to Snowflake, Arizona. Leaving Tucson on Friday, December 29, and arriving in Snowflake after a day of visiting scenic spots around the state, the Cats were "put up" in local homes for their 2-night stay. The next night the Cats played at a large dance and the following day left for home.

Being a Hi Cat really has its advantages as any of the members will tell you!

Twirlers

Here comes the band! And preceding the THS band at almost every appearance were the twirlers, performing their routines briskly and agilely.

We first became aware of the skill of these energetic strutters at the home football games. With Bernadine Ludwig as head twirler, the girls collaborated with the songleaders in their popular "Hoop Dee Doo" number as well as rendering several of their own interpretations.

When attending the out-of-town Mesa football game, the spirits of THS students were uplifted considerably when at half-time, the twirlers, dressed in showy uniforms, commanded the attention of everyone with their intricate patterns.

Taking to heart the saying, "starting the year off on the right foot," the twirlers departed with great excitement at 6:00 A.M., January 1, for the annual Salad Bowl Parade and Game at Phoenix. There they pranced ahead of Tucson's entry—band and queen contestant — in the parade.

On February 22, the twirlers, wearing denim skirts and cowboy shirts, led the THS band to win the title of "best high school marching group", a fitting tribute to the proficiency of the twirlers!

Advanced Dancing

Now we see a cloud. Now we see a tree. Black magic? Certainly not! Look again and you will know you've been watching the THS Terpsichoros. Dancing gaily through the year, these spirited members of the advanced dance group combined talent with work and came up with a year bubbling over with sparkling dance programs. Led by Miss Virginia Robinson, the girls perform publicly under the name of Terpsichoros.

They started off the year by giving a semi-formal dance. During the intermission, the girls displayed their talent by putting on a floor show. In keeping with the theme, "Harvest of Stars", their four numbers were "Star-dust", "How High The Moon", "Stars on Parade" and "Starlight Syncopation".

At Christmas time, they presented their annual and deeply impressive program, "A Christmas Prayer For Peace", in collaboration with Miss Madge Utterback and her vocal department, who provided the music for the two sequences: Realities and Hope.

A special feature of the program was the interpretation of the "Nutcracker Suite".

As soon as mid-semester examinations were over, these industrious girls began work on their final appearance of the year—the annual spring presentation. With unusual interpretations and modern impressions, the program measured up to the high standards of the past.

At the Senior Girl's Fashion Show they contributed to the entertainment and again at the Annual State Teachers Convention, these light-footed lassies gave a sample of their work for the out-of-town delegates. In March some of the girls made the trip to Phoenix to perform at the California-Arizona Girls' League Convention.

Working with Miss Robinson and the officers on Terpsichorean plans were Norma Bartel, Beverly Perkins and Beverly Pilcher, junior representatives, and Loleete Burr and Dundee Hueftlein, senior representatives.

Girls' Social Hour Committee

"What shift do I have?" a voice in Room 125 asks. No, school isn't being run on the split shift again. It's Wednesday, and Sara Packard, Girls' Social Hour President, has just handed out assignments for next Friday's dance. If you've ever wondered why these after-game dances are run so smoothly and successfully, attending a Girls' Social Hour meeting will soon give you the answer. The girls take care of the cloak room and tickets, check identification cards and watch the doors at every Social Hour Dance.

Helping at these dances is only one of their many undertakings. Each month a girls' mass meeting is held for every girl in the school to attend. Besides a guest speaker, the girls themselves entertain with skits, as well as vocal and dance numbers.

Early in the fall they sponsored a clothing drive, the clothes being sent to Basil Sarantides and Eila Lindholm, our two adopted foreign children.

In November, four girls with Miss Brazelton, their sponsor, attended Girls' League State Convention in Snowflake, Arizona. In January about fifty girls attended a state convention in Casa Grande, and again in March almost one hundred girls went to the Arizona-California Girls' League Convention.

Selling cushions for the Badger Backer fund at football games was another of their service projects; then, with the aid of the Graphic Arts Department, the girls published the Badger Behavior Handbook for the second year.

Concluding the year, a luncheon was given for the new committee members.

"Two cokes coming up!" The local drug-store? No, indeed — two more "satisfied customers" have just been served at one of the after-game Social Hour dances. Waiting on the students behind the refreshment stand is one of the regular assignments of the Boy's Social Hour Committee members.

Soon after the school year began, new members were selected, and these, together with the old members, began planning coming social events.

The boys, representing all three classes, started off the season working at the dances sponsored by the Social Hour Committee. In conjunction with Girl's Social Hour, they served at the door and in the classroom.

Work also began early for the mid-November banquet. The turkey dinner, ac-

"Snapping into their duties at the beginning of the year, THS' Junior Red Cross, under the direction of Miss Calanthe Brazelton, enrolled in the Peoples Section of the United Nations. For the first time American History and American Problems classes discussed "questions of the month"; then when they had reached satisfactory answers, they forwarded them to the United Nations.

As soon as school had settled down to an orderly pace in September, the Red Cross staged its annual talent shows and dances. The two shows brought in over $500 as a grand total. Female football players, amateur "Annie Oakleys" and serious artists as well, lent their talents to the productions.

Budgeted "good will" albums made up of pictures of our local schools and country were sent to foreign countries in return for their equally informative albums.

Sponsored again by the Red Cross was the annual project of sending to the children of foreign countries "gift boxes" containing combs, toothpaste, paper, pencils, socks and other essentials.

Honor Service Society

"To render service which will contribute to the welfare, progress and happiness of society," is the aim of the Honor Service Society, and this aim was certainly carried out to perfection by this year's group.

Doing everything from clerical work to arranging blood donor folders, the tireless group extends its activities into the summer months. Membership was open to students who had worked a total of 15 hours at designated places, among which are the Red Cross Office and the Veteran's Hospital. At the end of the first semester, the group had worked nearly 5,000 hours.

Recording results from the physical examinations for the nurse, selling tickets for a Cancer Benefit Ball and correcting 10,000 record cards for the Red Cross Center were taken in stride by the active organization.

A dull life is not the lot of these students, though for their schedule includes not only work, but also some play. Four initiations for new members were held, and after the second, a Mexican dinner at El Charro was sponsored by the initiates.

Gaining valuable experience, the members of the Honor Service Society have learned to give their time and talents for the enjoyment of others with no thought of repayment.

Assembly Committee

Starting off with a pep assembly, the Assembly Committee had its usual array of enjoyable programs with variety the "key word." This ambitious group, aided by sponsor Paul Koch, promoted everything from a safety film to a European travelog.

In contrast to the program presented by the classical orchestra was the toe-tickling "pop" music of the Swing Band, including even "The Thing!" Something new to THS this year was the United Nations assembly given by students from other countries with representatives of England, Canada, China, Germany and Mexico.

No year would be complete without rallies and pep assemblies, and this year's really helped our teams to win.

Beside these and other student assemblies, many National Assembly programs were also staged. Among the committee members' responsibilities was the problem of selecting entertainment which would appeal to all students and keep their interest high. Whether serious or humorous, professional or amateur, this past year's assemblies were outstanding in all respects.

Handsome men, beautiful ladies, but no guitar!

Cheerleaders

What is a football or basketball game without spirit? Everyone knows that the boys on a team play better when they know their schoolmates are backing them 100 per cent. But although the students who provide the moral support are of utmost importance, the cheerleaders and songleaders are equally essential.

The phrase "Come on gang, yell!" was a common one this year because for the first time since the double shift was started, THS had an organized pep squad for all the home football games. Practices were held every Thursday after school, and when game time came on Friday, members found themselves wearing the traditional red and white even though some of these old clothes they had vowed they'd never wear again.

Of 550 applicants 500 were chosen and these were given membership cards which assured them of reserved seats on the 50-yard line. Though they lost their voices yelling, the pep squad members had choice seats; that is, when they could see through the maze of waving pom-poms!!

In order for this yelling to be effective, there had to be leaders. As cheer after cheer resounded through stadium or gymnasium, eight brightly-clad boys and girls led the student body and newly-founded pep squad in attaining an all-time high record of school spirit. In their flashy red and white outfits, the cheerleaders, headed by Jon Robson, bolstered the Badgers on both the football field and basketball court.

For the first time, two pep rallies were held instead of the usual one. Before the opening football game, the cheerleaders, followed by the songleaders, band and students, paraded through the downtown streets, cheering enthusiastically. The second rally was held in the THS stadium before the supporting students and team departed for the all-important out-of-town Mesa game.

But don't think that the songleaders were loafing! With spectacular rhythm, the songleaders pranced and twirled before Badger fans at every football game as well as some of the basketball games. Gay and colorful in new costumes of white blouses and circle skirts with red musical notes on them, the songleaders performed during time-out periods and between halves.

Because an overly-high number of songleaders were chosen, they worked in shifts. The tall girls and the short girls took turns dancing to the tunes of "Hoop Dee Doo", "We're a Bunch of Badgers", and "All Hail to the Badgers." Perhaps the girls' most spectacular number was their interpretation of "Brass Band Boogie", complete with canes and top hats.

Under the guidance of Danny Romero, these energetic and peppy boys and girls, combined with the student Pep Squad, have kept the THS school spirit at a level deserving of recognition.

"And though but few can serve,

PEGGY COX

Prominent at THS all three years, Secretary of Junior Class, Junior Guard and Sophomore Dance Committee member.

Energy-plus is Peggy, when she is song leading for football games.

Gives talent to Terpsichoros, pep to Senior Office and advice to Senior Cabinet.

DALE FUNK

Developed and printed many of the Tucsonian pictures as co-photography editor.

Aids Badger Camera Clickers as Vice-President.

Led class of '50 graduates as Junior Guard.

Easy-going Dale spends spare (?) time as Hi-Y member.

VIRGINIA BROWN

Junior year for Jinx was a big one—served as Junior Guard, Junior Council member and Girls' State representative.

Interesting and entertaining assemblies were her special job to plan as a member of the Assembly Committee.

National Honor Society initiate, Tuc-Hi member and Junior Red Cross Vice-President, she always has time for a friendly smile or "hello."

X-marks the spot where each Monday, Jinx, as Chronicle staff editor, hands out writers' assignments.

DICK ANKLAM

D-emolay, Boys' State, National Honor Society and Hi-Y all claim his attention.

Intelligent — Number 1 boy scholastically in his class.

Counted upon as Chronicle Editor where dependability is the "key word."

Kick, that's what he gets out of his excellent art work.

in THS

yet all may please." Hannah Moore

MARY LOUISE GUMP

Making the most of every minute, she was active in Terpsichoros, Honor Service Society, Thespians, National Honor Society and Senior Office.

Leading the student body and Pep Squad was her job as Cheerleader.

Girls' State and Girls' Nation were a high spot in Mary Louise's high school memories. She was a candidate for Governor.

JON ROBSON

Journeymen to Boys' State and was mayor of city there in 1950; Student Body Veep this year. On several cabinets and offices, Jon was, in addition, Head Cheerleader.

Never idle, "Little Jon" was also a Thespian.

STEVE SCHNEIDER

Senior Guard — one of the best.

Took part in Senior Council meetings.

Easy-going Steve was an asset to THS by anyone's standards.

Very popular as National Honor Society president.

Editorial Board meetings for Chronicle found him hard at work.

ZITA LEESON

Zealous work on her part as Editor of the Quarterly produced four outstanding issues this year. She plans a future in Journalism.

In her underclassmen days she was a Sophomore Flag Bearer and Junior Guard.

Terpsichoros claimed part of her busy schedule as did National Honor Society and Girls' Social Hour.

Acting is another of her many talents; she was a member of National Thespians.

Personalities

"And though but few can serve,

RUSSELL GRAGG

R-an, hit and played an important part as first baseman on Badger baseball squad. U-sed his athletic talents to further advantage as a member of the Letterman's Club. S-howed a strong attraction to horses. S-trong and silent type: strong anytime, silent only around the "weaker sex".

KATHY STOFFT

K-ind and friendly describe her to a "T." A-s Tucsonian Editor she was as busy as a bee. T-erpsichoros rehearsals found her hard at work. H-ep and full of pep, she was a Soi leader too. Y-es, she's always there and with energy to spare.

PETER COULSON

P-ounded the typewriter as a member of the Chronicle Editorial Board.

E-nergy was a 'must' when performing his duties as President of the National Thespian Society. T-ook an active interest in the activities in general at THS.

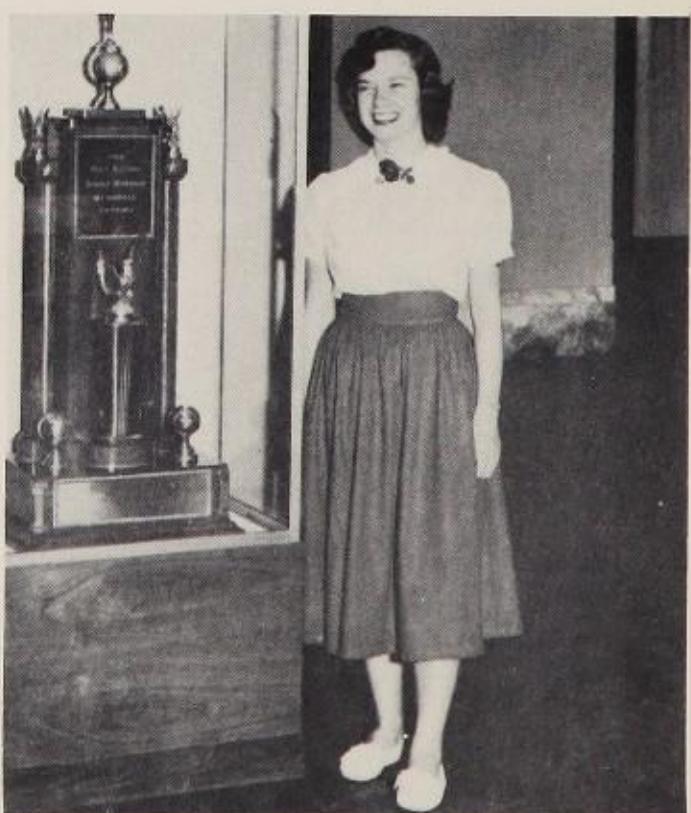

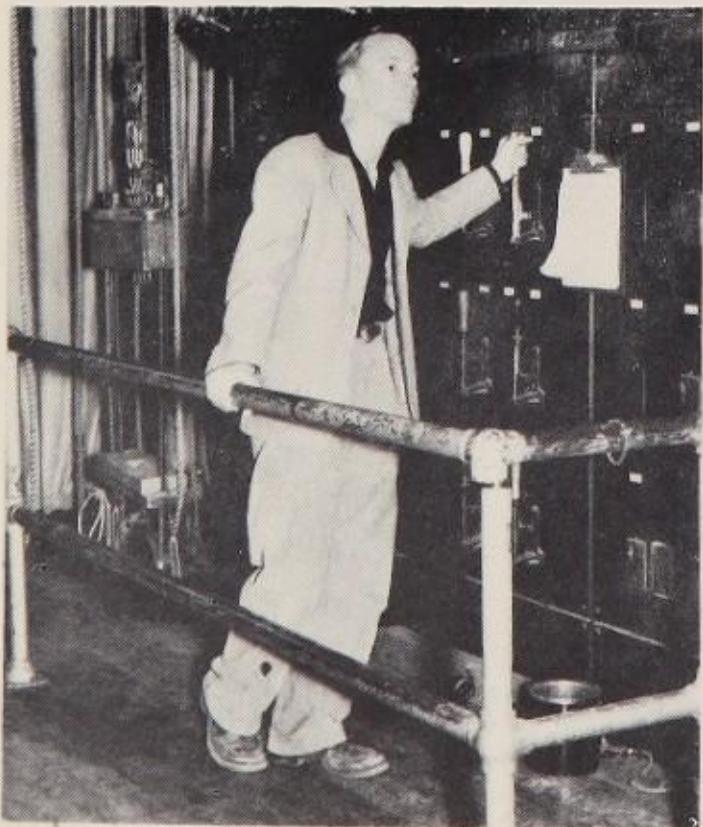

E-xercises at 1950 Commencement found him acting as Junior Flag Bearer.

MARY BELLE BREEDING

M-ade herself known as junior representative to the House of Representatives, Girls' State Delegate, and Junior Guard.

B-oasted membership in the National Honor Society and position on the Quarterly Editorial Board.

B-eginning high school with a bang in sophomore year, she belonged to the Latin Forum and Tucsonian staff and thereafter never relaxed her industry.

in THS

yet all may please." Hannah Moore

KEN KEMMERIES

K-een interest in Hi-Y kept Ken busy as Vice-president.

E-ver ready to give advice to Senior Council or aid the Badger Camera Clickers as able President.

N-ever one to shirk work, Ken was Co-Photography Editor of the Tucsonian.

JANIE SCHELL

J-uggled a number of time-consuming duties as member of the Chronicle staff, Honor Service Society Vice-president and Tucsonian typist.

A-nswered to roll call at El Cervantes, French Club and Latin Forum meetings.

N-ever-tiring worker on both Sophomore Hop and Junior Prom.

I-nteresting and fun to be with, Janie is a likeable friend to many.

E-nthusiasm, that's what it took to do all this and still have time for Tuc-Hi, Pep Squad and Girls' Social Hour Committee.

ART LOPEZ

A-thletics holding first place among Art's interests, he was a Letterman and a dependable football player.

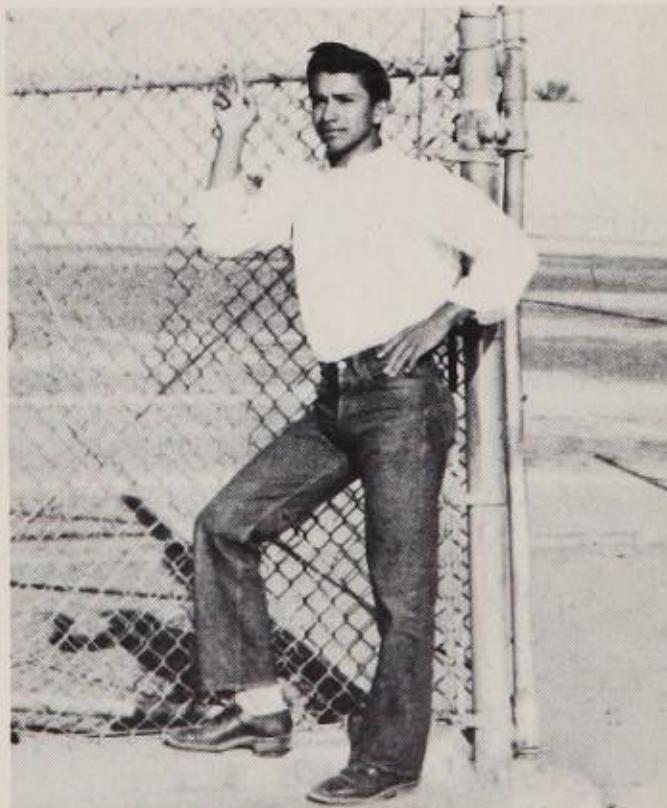

R-anking high in the estimation of his fellow teammates, Art was elected-Co-Captain of the Baseball team.

T-UTTI, is the nickname which Art's many friends call him.

CAMILLA POWERS

C-rime Blossoms, The Passing of the Third Floor Back, and Berkley Square are plays which Camilla included in her list of successful dramatic parts.

P-roof positive of her theatrical interests is her membership in the National Thespian Society.

Personalities

"And though but few can serve,

BILL BECKER

B-alladeers and Allegro both benefitted from his baritone talents.

I-nterest in Senior activities made him a valuable member of the Senior Council.

L-ooked forward to intramural sports as an active participant.

L-ent his singing talents further to the Double Mixed Quartette.

JEANETTE SMITH

J-unior Flag Bearer, Tuc-Hi, Honor Service Society and Junior Dance Committee worker was Jeanette.

S-howed real ability in music, was concert master of the orchestra for two years and a member of the National Instrumental Music Society.

JIM LINDSEY

J-ournalist for sports section on Tucson Daily Citizen, Jim also wrote for Tucsonian.

I-nterested especially in basketball, he played varsity for the Badgers.

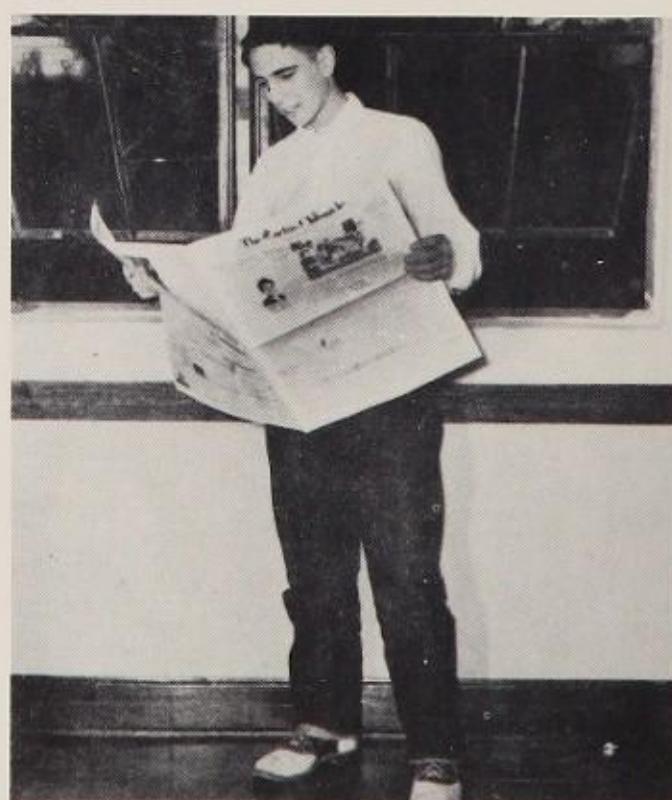

M-anaging business for class of '51 and participating in Boys' Social Hour kept Jim busy.

JOE MIDLER

J-oined the Radio Production Club as a typical "ham."

O-h, that humor, cried everyone when one of Joe's articles appeared in the Chronicle.

E-ditorial Board of the Chronicle, National Honor Society, Quarterly staff and Boys' State all claimed him as a more "serious" member.

in THS

yet all may please." Hannah Moore

TOMMY BENTLEY

T-ucsonian cactus cartoons are a typical example of Tommy's deft art work.

O-n the Chronicle, he served as Art Editor and is also active in the National Art Honor Society.

M-any other activities included "30" Club, Senior Class Cabinet, Quarterly staff and Stamp Club.

CHARLOTTE JEWELL

C-hosen both as Sophomore Flag Bearer and member of National Honor Society, Charlotte was also among the top ten scholastically in her class.

J-ustified her reputation for dependability as member of Allegretto, Junior Red Cross and Quarterly Editorial Board.

A. V. HUMPHRYS

A-lways in thick of things as Student Body President.

V-arious activities included football all three years, Senior Office and Cabinet, and Social Hour.

H-ard worker on Chronicle as Distribution Manager; delegate to Boys' State; enthusiastic Letterman; and National Honor Society member.

BURTON GOTSHALL

B-and, band, and more band describes Bud perfectly. He was an energetic member of the Lyre's Club, Marching Band and Orchestra.

U-rgent matters received his just attention and judgment as a Senior Councilman.

D-ancing was a pleasure when Bud "swung" it with the Hi-Cats.

Personalities

"And though but few can serve,

DON SEAMANDS

O-bvious joy, that's what he got from attending Boys' State and De Molay meetings.

N-othing gave him more pleasure than membership in the National Honor Society and memory of having been a Sophomore Flag Bearer.

MERLENYA WEITZEL

M-aking good use of her art ability as Co-Art Editor of the Quarterly, Merlenya was also treasurer of the National Art Honor Society.

W-orries are something Chronicle or Tucsonian editors never had when she was taking care of one of the numerous art assignments.

BILL WORTHINGTON

B-aseball for two years and football for three took up most of Bill's years at Tucson High.

I-nterest in people made Bill a popular member of Boys' Social Hour Committee.

L etterman's Club also claimed him and he served as Vice-president.

L-iked working in Senior Office, on Senior Council and the Ad Staff of the Tucsonian.

RAMON PACHECO

R-ated among honor students to act as Junior Guard for 1950.

A-mbition and interest made him invaluable as an Honor Service Society initiate.

M-ake-up Editor of the Quarterly required a great deal of this boy's time.

O-ften seen hurrying around THS' halls, but always on official business, Ramon was a member of the Graphics Arts Club.

N-not to be considered one-sided in his interests, he was on the sophomore track squad and participated in Intramural sports.

in THS

yet all may please." Hannah Moore

BETTY CONN

Belonged to the Girls' Quartette and was an outstanding soprano.

Coming from another school in her Senior year, Betty lost no time in entering into the activities and fellowship of THS.

MARTHA NEWTON

Manned the exchange end of the Chronicle and was a wholehearted supporter of the Junior Red Cross, Tuc-Hi and Honor Service Society. Named also in her list of activities were the Golf Club and the Horseback Riding Club.

SABINE PEEK

"It's been a wonderful year, but it will be good to be home again," smiled Sabine Peek of Bremen, Germany. Here in America for one year on a special scholarship for foreign students, blonde, blue-eyed Sabine expects to return to her homeland in June.

She will take back with her many impressions of the United States, but most memorable, she feels, is the informality and casualness of the American people, especially in the family and at school.

In New York where newspapers lie unguarded on street corners, she was surprised to see a person who wanted a paper leave his nickel and take a copy. This would never happen in Germany, she said.

Furthermore, in Germany no matter how much a girl wanted a slim figure, she would never starve herself to death as American girls do just to look like skin and bones. With meals in Germany much heavier, consisting of many vegetables and desserts on the same menu, Sabine was "always hungry" at first, eating balanced American meals.

Sabine marveled also at how we take our generosity for granted. Giving a little to the Community Chest, the Cancer Fund and the Red Cross is nothing unusual to us, but to Sabine it is.

To enable Sabine to obtain a well-rounded view of American life, she was placed in an American home and her school program was planned to include a variety of typical subjects: health, American Problems, American Literature and American History . . . Sabine immediately became interested in the activities in which American high school students engage, even loyally supporting the Badgers at several out-of-town games.

A pair of turquoise Navajo earrings, given to Sabine as a present when she first arrived in Tucson, will serve as a reminder of her year in Arizona when she rejoins her family in Bremen.

As for THS students, they will long remember Sabine for her gracious poise and friendliness!

PAUL THIEL

Paul came to Tucson in November, 1948, with his mother from Frankfort, Germany. He is living here now with his mother and step-father.

Mrs. Thiel met and married her Air Force pilot-husband in Germany and came to America under war-bride regulations.

FAY WEX

In Tucson since last November, Fay hails from Calgary, Alberta, Canada. She will return to Montreal for a year before going to the University of Chicago.

MARGARET RIPLEY

Margaret came to Tucson from Oshawa, Ontario, Canada in July, 1950, because of her sister's health. Her mother works at the county hospital. Although Margaret likes the U. S., she doesn't plan to become a citizen.

EVO DI CONCINI

Arriving here in September, 1947, Evo completed a 5,000 mile journey from Trento, Italy. Here he joined his brothers and sister already living in America. He lives with his brother and sister-in-law in Tucson.

COLIN BURROW

January, 1949, Colin left Leeds, England, to come to Tucson. He and his family plan to live permanently in America. After he graduates, Colin would like to work on the stage or radio.

JOHN KOHL

After living in Oroya, Peru, for 14 years, John came to Tucson when his father's contract with American Mining Company expired.

ALDINE SINCLAIR

Aldine and her family moved to Tucson from Toronto, Canada, in 1945 because of Mr. Sinclair's health. The U of A will be the next stop after graduation and then possibly the University of Toronto.

MARGOT BUTLER

From "the land down under", Margot came here January 15 to live with her sister and G.I. brother-in-law. Before coming here, she lived with her brother, mother and accountant father in Melbourne. After graduation, she plans to attend the U of A.

JIM MULCHAY

After residing in Cananea, Sonora, Mexico, for 13 years, Jim came to Tucson High as a Sophomore. His father, a geologist for Anaconda Copper Company, moved here so Jim could benefit from the Tucson schools.
